Hi Shannon,

Sorry to keep interrupting your day. May I invite Dan Stralka to attend the call? He is currently under pressure for pCBSA from a PRP, a community group, and Cal EPA. [REDACTED]

No worries. We can talk more on Thursday. I am really hoping to come to some agreement on the lists and get everyone on the same page. I think this is all good movement in a positive new direction. I am looking forward to chatting more as well. Talk soon!

Actually, yes I was on the call! I left Wednesday morning. Sorry for the confusion. I have been out so much the past month, it's been hard to pick up where I left off.
Thanks so much. Looking forward to Thursday's call.
Andrea

Hi Andrea,

I thought you were on the call with me and Annette? Welcome back regardless. We actually do have another call scheduled that you should have been invited to (2/4/16 at 11am). Let me know if you didn't get that. We will be discussing the list a little further as far as what we all want to include and who it will be shared with. As for pCBSA, that chemical is in the very beginning stages of development and is slated to be finished in FY17 if all goes as planned. I don't have any ideas as to what routes will be developed as we are not that far along in the process. Not sure that helps but I think the plan is to keep you all more updated on the PPRTV development process with these lists like the one we are discussing this Thursday. Hope this has been helpful. Let me know if you need anything else. Thanks.

Hi Teresa,

Sorry I missed last week's PPRTV conference. I was out of town. I noticed pCBSA is on the tentative list for PPRTV review. Dan Stralka and I are both interested in any developments. Is there anything you could share in this regard?

Best wishes,

Andrea
